many tea party attractions and occasions in honor of the Revolutionary Daughters, and after today's events are over the busy participants will be ready for a quiet week of rest. With commendable energy the ladies who are intrusted with the duty of keeping the cash boxes of various charitable institutions constantly replenished to meet the demands, came together the day after Ash Wednesday to formulate a plan to beguile a fresh store of coin into these almost empty coffers. The bicycle parade -exhibition and races of which previous mention has been made in these columnshas already taken first place in fashionable endeavor and will be one of the great events of the Lenten season. Rumor has it that we are to have "living pictures" also for sweet charity, participated in by a number of prominent belles and beaux, and to be given in one of several private ball rooms that will readily be offered for it. Then another chance or two to enjoy the delightful pictures from "Life," which were given with such success last winter, seems

The days with time in them to enjoy the music clubs are with us and a revival of the interest which never departs entirely is apparent all along the line. The Friday Morning Club never permits its social duties Morning Club never permits its social duties to lessen its devotion to the musical art, and simply continues its artistic enjoyments right through Lent, without interruption. The Tuesday Club has just been organized and promises a season of the same delight to its members. Whist clubs are so numerous that each great and small coterie of intimates have one in their midst. Sewing circles seem no longer Lenten diversions, as they exist all year and are midst. Sewing circles seem no longer Lenten diversions, as they exist all year and are only spurred to greater activity at this period. Skating and the wheel, in the way of time-killing and health-giving employments, use up so much time nowadays that no idle days or hours confront the average society girl or matron. The only difficulty exists in getting all the engagedifficulty exists in getting all the engage-ments in reasonable order.

Bryant spoke to the toast of "The Association." Mayor Wurster responded to "Newspaper Men as Viewed by Public Officials." John E. Barrett spoke on "The Editorial End." ExCongressman James W. Covert spoke on "The Relation of the Press to the Public Service." Phil. T. Dooge on "The Newspaper of the Future." Stephen O'Meara of the Boston Journal on "The Patriotism of the American Press," and D. Pierce on "The National Advertiser." The following officers were elected for 1896: President, Charles W. Knapp; vice president, J. Ambrose Butler; secretary William C. Bryant; treasurer, Herbert F. Congressman Loud's measure for the pro-posed 1 cent postal law was the subject of discussion at the morning session, which was held behind closed doors. A vote of the association was taken and it was found to be unanimously in favor of the Loud bill as it had been reported. Ballington Booth Retires.

From the New York Herald. Commander and Mrs. Ballington Booth have relinquished their commands in the Salvation Army. They made known this action in a "manifesto" issued yesterday, in which they take the ground that the step was forced upon them. Herbert Booth, who has heretofore had charge of the Salvation Army in Canada, has taken possession of the office at the headquarters in this city, and it is understood is now, temporarily at least, in command of the army in the United States.

The retirement of Commander and Mrs. Ballington Booth will, it is said by some who are prominent in the councils of the army here, probably cause the secession of the American branches of the Salvation

Seymour, commissioner of patents.

Last evening the stations of the way of the cross were read for the first time this season at Trinity Church. A large number of people attended the services, which closed with benediction of the blessed sacrament. The stations will be read every Friday evening during Lent. At the late mass tomorrow morning the sermon will be delivered by Rev. Father M. C. Dolan, S.J., an excellent speaker. The Flag Waved.

For the first time in several years the American flag waved proudly over the seventh precinct station today, commemorating the birthday of the father of his country. The flagstaff has been out of repair, but af daybreak this morning Sergt. Volkman, Detective Burrows and several of the men repaired the staff and hauled the flag in position. It was the first flag hoisted today. James Ridout, a colored man, was arrested last evening on M street by Policeman Birkigt on a charge of violating the police regulations by dropping straw in the street. Ridout was driving a beer wagon, which was half filled with straw to prevent the contents of the kegs from freezing. The straw was scattered loosely around and dropped out on the roadway. Notes. Herbert Elgin, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac H. Rabbitt, died Wednesday at the
